- RC Energo Install SRL recorded a loss of – RON 879,455, reflecting a decline in performance of - RON 1,434,132 as compared to 2025 9M, a decrease driven by the reduction in investments from local public authorities, as well as increased competition, with major players competing for small-scale orders. Economic uncertainty and rising costs, driven by increases in the minimum wage, fuel prices, and the RON/EUR exchange rate, have intensified competition in the construction market. In response, the company has initiated a fixed-cost optimization program.

Future prospect

Market demand remains soft in the near term. The consumer goods and retail markets are navigating a slowdown, while the industrial goods and manufacturing sector faces a challenging period of stagnation.

In terms of day-to-day operations, the management team has been heavily focused on raw material price fluctuations and availability since early March. Accordingly, we have adjusted our purchasing plan to mitigate the impact of rising costs. Furthermore, we are carefully reflecting inflation in our selling prices, even as the market remains highly price-sensitive.

In October 2026, the investment in the Recycled Polymers & Compounds sector was completed, as well as in the Polyethylene Processed and Polypropylene Processed sectors. The main benefits of this investment include:

- Recycled Polymers & Compounds: Increased capacity and operational efficiency, alongside a significant improvement in recycled polymers quality.
- Polypropylene and polyethylene Processing Sectors: State-of-the-art technology will boost efficiency and product quality. Additionally, advanced filtration technology will enable a higher percentage of recycled content in our final products.
- Operational Costs: Reduced unit labor costs and energy consumption across the board.

These investments will enhance our productivity and competitiveness starting in Q4 2026, with an even greater positive impact anticipated throughout 2027. We will be fully prepared with upgraded production facilities as the market begins to rebound in 2027.

The condensed interim consolidated financial statements do not include the details of all explanatory notes normally included in an annual financial report. Accordingly, these condensed interim consolidated financial statements will be read together with the annual consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2025.

The accounting policies adopted in these financial statements are in accordance with those adopted in the previous financial year and in the interim reporting period corresponding to the previous year. Bases of preparation

The consolidated financial statements were prepared on a going concern basis, at historical cost, adjusted to hyperinflation as at December 31, 2003 for fixed assets, share capital and reserves.

The financial statements are prepared based on the statutory accounts kept in accordance with Romanian accounting principles, adjusted for compliance with IFRS.

Bases of consolidation

The consolidated financial statements include the financial statements of the Parent, of its subsidiaries and joint ventures.

The subsidiaries included in the consolidation process are mentioned in Note 1 General Information.

20. TRADE AND OTHER CURRENT RECEIVABLES (continued)

When determining the recoverability of a receivable, the Group takes into account any change in the receivable's crediting capacity from the date the loan was granted, until the reporting date. The level of credit risk is limited given that the client basis is large and the client portfolio is diverse and clients are independent from each other. The analysis was carried out strictly on the balance of the trade receivables, minus uncertain receivables and those in dispute. The Group registers adjustments of receivables as per IFRS 9, and specific allowances for doubtful clients.
Therefore, the Group's management considers that there is no need for an additional provision exceeding the allowance for doubtful debts.

The Group has adopted a policy of only dealing with creditworthy counterparties and obtaining sufficient collateral where appropriate, as a means of mitigating the risk of financial loss from defaults. The management monitors the Group's exposure and the credit ratings of its contractual counterparties.

Trade receivables consist of a large number of clients from various industries and geographical areas. Credits are constantly assessed as regards the clients' financial status and, if applicable, credit insurance is concluded.

The Group does not have any significant credit risk exposure towards any counterparty or any group of similar counterparties. The Group defines counterparties as having similar characteristics when they are related entities. At no time during the year has the credit risk percentage exceeded 5% of the gross monetary assets.

(i) Liquidity risk management

The ultimate responsibility for liquidity risk management rests with the Board of Administration, which has built a proper liquidity risk management framework regarding the Group funds' short, medium and long term insurance and the liquidity management requirements. The Group manages liquidity risk by maintaining adequate reserves, backup banking facilities and loan facilities, by continually monitoring cash flows and matching the maturity profiles of financial assets and liabilities. Note 35 includes a list of additional facilities not drawn, available to the Group in order to further mitigate liquidity risk.

(j) Fair value of financial instruments

The fair values of financial assets and liabilities are determined as follows:

- the fair value of financial assets and liabilities with standard terms and conditions and traded on active liquid markets are determined by reference to quoted market prices;
- the fair value of other financial assets and liabilities (excluding derivative instruments) is determined in accordance with generally accepted pricing models based on discounted cash flow analysis using prices from observable current market transactions; and
- the fair value of derivative instruments is calculated using quoted prices. Where such prices are not available, use is made of discounted cash flow analysis using the applicable yield curve for the duration of the instruments for non-optional derivatives, and option pricing models for optional derivatives.

The financial statements include unlisted share holdings, measured at fair value. The best estimate for fair value is determined using the historical cost of shares.

The financial instruments in the balance sheet include trade receivables and other receivables, cash and cash equivalents, short and long term borrowings and other liabilities. The estimated fair values of such instruments approximate their carrying values. The carrying values represent the Group's maximum exposure to credit risks related to existing receivables.

31. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS (continued)

The Group is mainly exposed to EUR and USD exchange rates. The following table details the Group's sensitivity to a 10% increase and decrease in the LEI against the USD/EUR. 10% is the sensitivity rate used when reporting foreign currency risk internally to top management and represents management's estimate of the reasonably possible changes in foreign exchange rates. The vulnerability analysis includes only outstanding foreign currency denominated in monetary items and adjusts their translation at the period end for a 10% change in foreign currency rates. In the following table, a negative number below indicates a decrease in profit, whereas the LEI weaken 10% against the EUR/USD. For a 10% strengthening of the LEI against the EUR/USD, there would be an equal and opposite impact on the profit and other equity, and the balances below will be positive. Changes will be attributable to the exposure related to EUR borrowings at the end of the year.
